Sustainability

Guided by Marriott International's Serve 360 framework, the INVENA Project – engineered with MIT's Self-Assembly Lab – is a 30-metre underwater coastal structure that mitigates beach erosion and is intended to evolve into a coral nursery, alongside a ban on purchasing endangered marine-life products and organic on-site food sourcing through the JW Garden.

Worth knowing

- INVENA Project – MIT Self-Assembly Lab-engineered underwater erosion-control structure
- Ocean Residence – 729 sqm signature villa with private gym and water-slide pool
- Safeeru butler service rooted in Sultanate-era tradition
- Architecture by Cuneyt Bukulmez (Atolye4N)
- BABOR skincare exclusivity at Spa by JW
- 15-minute speedboat transfer from Velana International Airport
